

Management aims to provide suitably secure environments from which Beacon Offshore Ltd. can operate to achieve its strategic aims and objectives by implementing security measures to appropriately protect personnel and Beacon Offshore Ltd. assets, including material of differing levels of sensitivity.

It is essential that our business be conducted in an environment where potential threats to Beacon Offshore Ltd. assets, information and personnel (including from terrorism, theft and insider threats) have been identified, risk assessed and appropriately mitigated to prevent interference, loss or compromise.

The level of risk and potential impact to Beacon Offshore Ltd. information, assets and people will determine the controls to be applied and the degree of assurance required. Management must ensure a baseline of physical security measures are in place at each site, and receive annual assurance that such measures are in place to provide appropriate protection to all occupants and assets, and that these measures can be strengthened when required.

The constantly changing security landscape has necessarily dictated that Security measures be constantly re-evaluated in order to meet new threats and other emerging vulnerabilities.
